How to Draw a Horse

1. Draw the body oval

Draw one large oval across the middle for the horse's body. Keep it smooth and wide.

2. Add the head circle

Draw a round circle at the upper left for the head. Leave a gap between the head and the body.

3. Draw the neck line

Add a slanted line from the lower right side of the head down to the front of the body. Then add a short curved line on the right side of the head for the face edge.

4. Draw both ears

At the top of the head, draw two tall pointed ears. Add a smaller line inside each ear.

5. Draw the front leg

Draw the front leg that is closest to us. Start under the body, curve in at the ankle, and add the hoof with a straight band across it.

6. Draw the back leg

Draw the back leg on the right side. Let it bend a little at the middle and add the hoof at the bottom.

7. Add the other front leg

Draw the second front leg just behind the first one. Show part of the hoof peeking out beside the front hoof.

8. Add the other back leg

Draw the second back leg between the body and the back leg you already made. Curve it down and add a small hoof at the bottom.

9. Draw the face

Add one round eye, two small nostrils, and a curved mouth. Make the front of the head a little bumpy for the nose and mouth shape.

10. Draw the mane

Draw a zigzag mane from behind the ears down the back of the neck. Add a short curved smile line on the muzzle.

11. Draw the tail

Draw a long tail at the back with two curved lines. Make the end pointed and a little jagged.

12. Finish and clean up

Go over the horse outline, legs, head, mane, and tail with darker lines. Rub out the pale dotted guides you do not need.

Tips

- Keep the first guide shapes light so they are easy to rub out.
- Make the legs a little narrower near the hooves.
- If your horse looks different, that is fine. Real horses do too.
